

Financial Policy & Procedure Instructions Manual
FPI A-8 TABOR Overview

The Taxpayers Bill of Right (TABOR) was passed by a popular vote in November 1992. The Bill, as passed, was to restrain the growth of government by limiting revenue each fiscal year to the sum of inflation and state population growth for the previous calendar year. This percentage is applied to the baseline revenue number for the state to arrive at the new revenue limit each year for the State of Colorado. Any revenue the State brings in above that limit is returned to the taxpayers.

The Colorado State University System receives a single appropriation of revenue authority (the amount of revenue that can be earned) from the State and the Board of Governors for the Colorado State University System. The Board of Governors then allocates revenue authority to the individual campuses within the System (CSU and CSU at Pueblo). All revenue received by the University, except those revenues specifically exempted under the TABOR Amendment, must be counted under the revenue authority.

Revenue excluded from TABOR includes federal and private grants and contracts, gifts, damage awards, property sales, and revenue generated by programs that can be designated as enterprises under the TABOR statute. To qualify as an enterprise, a government-owned business must be authorized to issue its own revenue bonds and receive under 10 percent of annual revenue in subsidies from all Colorado state and local governments combined. Colorado State University has four designated enterprises: the Division of Educational Outreach, the Colorado State Forest Service Seedling Tree Nursery, the Research Building Revolving Fund and the Student and Faculty Services.

Sales to other State agencies are also excluded from TABOR. To ensure that these sales are not counted towards the University's revenue limit, departments must use a revenue subcode in the range of 0700-0769. Business and Financial Services maintains a list of State agencies.

All other revenue generated by Colorado State University has to be counted under the revenue authority determined by the State. This revenue includes tuition, student fees, course fees, technology charges, athletic ticket sales, general operations (2-2 funds) sales, payments for services provided to the public at the Veterinary Teaching Hospital, and revenue generated by any other sales or service activity.

Under TABOR, the University's revenue authority is limited. For this reason any significant new revenue sources, or increases in existing revenue sources for the University, must first be approved by the Executive Budget Committee. Contact the Office of Budgets and Institutional Analysis for additional information.
